ACTIVE

IDENTIFICATION

Subject 'RUDRA'. Senior-most field hand in FATEH's off-books cell. Former Para SF; long-service operator, multiple deniable actions, no current overt record. Treated within the unit as its steady centre and as de facto guardian to the asset SITA. Carries himself as the unit's conscience.

BACKGROUND

Drawn from the founding-era intake when FATEH stood the cell up. Two decades of close work; trusted with the cell's most sensitive charge. Unmarried, no traceable family of record; regards the unit itself as kin. Stable, sober, low personal footprint, no debt, no vices flagged.

DISPOSITION

Reads as loyal and immovable to overt assessment. Protective to the point of fixation regarding SITA. Holds a private moral grievance over FATEH's conduct toward the child during the founding era; the file notes this as a stress line but, on open assessment, treats it as contained sentiment rather than a security breach.

ASSESSMENT

On the open record: a senior, dependable operator whose only liability is attachment to his charge. Believes himself to be acting decently. Capable of independent action if he judges the asset endangered. Recommend continued reliance with periodic loyalty review.

KNOWN ASSOCIATES

FATEH unit commander; subject's overt principal and the family he believes he is betraying
SITA protected asset; subject's charge and the moral lever on which he was turned FATEH'S CELL fellow operators at 'Lanka'; the only kin subject acknowledges
MERIDIAN / TRINETRA corporate-intelligence apparatus subject reads as an external rival,
EXTERNAL CONTACT [REDACTED] tasking channel, conscience-coded, no cash trail

TRAINING

Indian Army special forces grounding: small-unit assault, close protection, surveillance and counter-surveillance, infiltration and exfiltration, edged and small-arms work. Founding-era and subsequent unit work added deniable-action craft, asset handling, and base security. Comfortable running an op end to end without supervision.

CAPABILITIES

Senior-tier field operator. Plans and executes extraction under hostile conditions; can move a protected person off a fortified base. Strong tradecraft, calm under contact, reads a room for threat by reflex. Greatest operational asset is unquestioned internal trust: he can open doors inside FATEH's cell that no outside hand could. Most exploitable trait is his conviction that he is the one doing the decent thing.

THREAT LEVEL - HIGH (to FATEH)

Trusted insider with extraction capability; the one hand inside the cell able to dismantle it from within.

STANDING ORDERS

Maintain overt confidence in subject; do not confront the grievance line directly. Sustain his belief that the operation is his own moral choice. Keep the conscience-coded channel single-threaded and cash-free. Should subject begin to question who he truly serves, escalate immediately and do not attempt local resolution.
