ACTIVE

ASSESSMENT

Subject is a clean, weary institutionalist who holds that a state which cannot be answered for is merely a better-armed gang. He has made it his mandate to wind down the deniable apparatus inherited from the prior Chief, Luthra, treating that inheritance as a moral debt to be paid by restoring oversight. Reliable, incorruptible, allergic to certainty in other men.

CURRENT TASKING

Subject is moving to shut down the unaccountable rogue unit run by the officer FATEH out of the fortified base 'Lanka'. He reads the unit as a sanction-less liability and proceeds on correct principle. He does not assess, and the file does not record, that FATEH's unit is the only element actively hunting the genuine threat; timing of the closure is, on the open record, simply overdue.

VULNERABILITY

Subject's strength is the lever against him. His correctness is predictable, his trust in process near-total, and his reliance on a single trusted advisor for the Fateh dossier is complete. He distrusts sure men and is therefore slow to suspect a quiet one.

KNOWN ASSOCIATES

PREDECESSOR Col. S. Luthra, former Chief; the man whose sanctioned era Subject is closing
ADVISOR Addl. Secretary Arvind Sehgal; Subject's most trusted internal source on the Fateh
TARGET the officer FATEH; commands the rogue unit out of 'Lanka'; assessed by Subject as FOUNDING PRINCIPAL 'Janaki', officer of record from the original off-books program; carried

TRAINING

Regular Army commission, infantry, then early deputation into external intelligence. Schooled in tradecraft, agent handling and oversight law across three decades of postings. Subject's formation is administrative and doctrinal more than operational; his discipline is the file, the chain, the answerable order. He reads people slowly and structures fast.

CAPABILITIES

Commands the full tasking, surveillance and arrest reach of the service. Can freeze budgets, pull sanctions, and direct the state's contested prediction-grid apparatus against a target. His real weapon is legitimacy: he can end a unit with a signature where another man would need a gun. Limited in field craft; he has not run an operation hands-on in years and relies on advisors to point the instrument.

OPERATIONAL RECORD – SELECTED

- PRESENT – Opened formal review to close the Fateh unit on accountability grounds
 - PRESENT – Accepted Sehgal as primary channel for the Fateh dossier
 - PRESENT – Authorised tasking-stream priority on Lanka-linked targets
 - FOUNDING-ERA – Not in post; inherited the off-books legacy on assuming chair
 - PRESENT – Declined field-officer briefings from outside the trusted channel
- TASKINGS THAT CLEARED THE ARCHITE [REDACTED] [SEALED]

THREAT LEVEL - GREEN (UNWITTING)

Poses no hostile intent; the danger is that his correctness is being aimed.

STANDING ORDERS

Maintain Subject in post and unaware. Do not brief him outside cleared channels on the Fateh unit's true function or the founding-era principals; the readership of this file is not cleared for those lines. Monitor his reliance on the trusted advisor without disrupting it. Should Subject begin independent verification outside the established channel, flag immediately to the case authority. He is an asset of the institution, not a target; protect his standing.
